WHSI EUSTORY Prize 2024

WHSI has always supported older learners in conjunction with EUSTORY, a network of organisations (sponsored by the Körber Foundation) that conduct research-based history competitions for young people in Europe, of which WHSI is a member. This year there will be an opportunity for learners in years 12 or 13 to submit individual work for the WHSI EUSTORY Prize.

A prize of £200 will be awarded to each of the top two individual entries in this WHSI competition (£100 to the student and £100 to their school), and these will be eligible to apply to EUSTORY to attend the annual EUSTORY History Campus with other young Europeans. Up to five entries altogether may be put forward for consideration for the EUSTORY campus by WHSI; the remaining three being either individual entries or significant individual contributions to a school project.

The individual enquiry project will need to be linked to Welsh heritage and must be original work, based on research, analysis and evaluation. It may be presented in various formats, e.g. essay, PowerPoint presentation with or without audio, booklet, short film or podcast, and can be submitted in either Welsh or English.

Entries will be judged on the following aspects, which need to be clearly demonstrated in the work presented:

1. The extent to which the project content focuses on heritage issues in Wales and the originality of the project or approach;
2. The accuracy of knowledge and understanding gained from the project, quality of explanations, links and connections made, and understanding of interpretations and representations (where appropriate);
3. Enquiry skills developed through the project which should include: the range of evidence considered, lines of enquiry explored, extent to which the student has developed their own ideas and thinking, methods used, and the validity of conclusions reached. Any outside involvement with the project (for example outside experts) would need to be referenced.

Essays should be no longer than 2,000 words and any recorded presentations (visual and/ or audio) should be no longer than 20 minutes.

The Skills Challenge Certificate A number of the Skills Challenge Certificate Community Challenges are closely related to Welsh heritage.
